

 This applies only to Horizon QCMS 4.x

The screenshot displays the 'Publish article' form in the Horizon QCMS 4.x interface. The form includes several fields and a rich text editor. The 'Navigation title' field is set to 'Members Only'. The 'Multimedia' field has a width of 640 and a height of 330. The 'Slideshow' field is empty. The 'Youtube' field has a width of 640 and a height of 360. The 'Title' field contains the text 'How to create a member's only page?'. The 'Share' dropdown menu is open, showing the options 'everyone' and 'members_only'. The 'Your article' field is a rich text editor with a toolbar containing various formatting options. The 'members_only' option is highlighted in the dropdown menu.

Creating a "Member's Only" page in Horizon is very simple.

If you add a new page on your website, then you'll see a "Share" option. The default value is "everyone." If you change this into "members_only," then the page will only be available for users who are logged in onto your website.

It's that easy. Let Horizon do the work for you.
